Information on the Data

Collection of records data was facilitated by the fact that most of the Perry study participants still lived in Michigan at age 27. Records information was collected for four of six study participants who were not interviewed at age 27.

Birth Information (end of PERRY.S)

Birth information was collected from the mothers and the hospitals at the beginning of the study in the 1960s.

Crime and Social Services Records (P27CRSS.S)

This data file includes information from adult crime, juvenile offenses, and prison parole, and release records and from Michigan and Washtenaw County social services records on all 123 study participants. Records were searched when study participants were 19 and when they were 27.

1. Adult Crime Records

   Michigan adult crime histories were collected via a computer search on all 123 Perry subjects by the Michigan State Police LEIN system (August, 1990), as well as a record search by High/Scope personnel in the Washtenaw County district and circuit courts, Detroit Recorder's Court, and the Federal Court in Detroit (summer and fall, 1990). Records of a few additional criminal incidents were found during a search of Washtenaw County social services records (March, 1991). Any additional crime information that had been entered during the age-19 study (1982) was also included in the file. Record searches for the 14 Perry subjects that were living out of state when interviewed at age 19 were requested from the state criminal information offices of Alabama (1), California (4), Georgia (1), Louisiana (1), Massachusetts (3), Nebraska (1), Pennsylvania (1), and Texas (2) (August, 1991). In addition, searches were conducted for 3 of the non- interviewed subjects in California, since information led us to believe they were living in that state. Only Louisiana and Nebraska refused to comply; 5 of the other states found no crime records. California located and sent crime records on 3 of the 7 subjects requested. We're still waiting for Massachusetts.

   Every effort was made to obtain complete crime histories on each individual in the study; however, one must recognize the limitations inherent in the sources and the process. The Michigan State Police LEIN system is dependent on information that is provided by local police and courts. According to system administrators, LEIN information is most complete at the arrest level, less complete at the charge level, and even less complete at the adjudication level. Moreover, local police and courts vary in the level of compliance in sending complete information to the state LEIN system. Record searches in the local courts were hampered in that the records were often confusing and/or incomplete, so that it was difficult to obtain a complete picture of the processing from arrest through sentencing. Finally, although the overwhelming majority of the Perry study participants records were gathered from states of residence at age 27, of course states of temporary residence during the period between ages 19 and 27 were unknown.

   The crime records information is organized by dividing criminal incidents into two categories based upon severity: incidents involving misdemeanor-type crimes and arrests involving felony-type crimes. The distinction between the two types was based primarily on the categorization of crimes in the Michigan system. For each misdemeanor incident-of-record, collected through the court searches, the subject was arrested or detained. Traffic offenses are not included. In addition, every individual felony and misdemeanor crime, (and often more than one crime was cited, charged, or convicted following a single arrest,) is coded according to kind of crime (see Crime List) as well as by whether it is a property offense, drug-related, or involves violence against a person. Although variable space has been created in each crime record to assign a seriousness weight scale, a scale has not been selected as yet and these variables are empty awaiting seriousness weights to be assigned and entered.

2. Juvenile Offense Records

   Information on juvenile offenses was collected from Washtenaw County juvenile court records in May, 1982, during the age-19 study. For consistency, the offenses were recoded using the typologies adopted for the adult crime data. Please note, in the juvenile offense data there are no confinements for any subjects and only one probation sentence (36 months for one preschool subject, ID=12).

3. Prison, Parole, and Release Records

   Prison records were collected via a Michigan Department of Corrections computer search (July, 1991) on the 21 Perry subjects whose criminal history records or interview self-report indicated a jail or prison sentence in the state of Michigan. State prison records were not found for 6 of the 21; since three of these individuals (IDs 23, 40, and 51) had 1 month sentences, and the other three had, respectively, 15 (ID=26), 20 (ID=02), and 36 (ID=13) month sentences, it is likely that they were incarcerated in county jails rather than in state prisons. A record search by the Washtenaw County Sheriff's Office found incarceration records only for two of the six, IDs 26 and 40, both members of the no-preschool group, and totalling approximately 17 months and 1 month in jail, respectively. The California Department of Justice, the only other state that located criminal records for any of the Perry study participants, sent a record of 84 months minimum prison sentenced for ID 61, with 34 months served thus far.

   The prison information data set includes dates of commitment, release to community programs (a corrections center or halfway house), parole and discharge. It also includes the reason for each recommitment.

Social Services Records (P29CRSS.S)

   This part of the file includes record information collected through computer searches by the Social Services Department of the State of Michigan and Washtenaw County, as well as a paper record search conducted by High/Scope staff at the Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor social services offices. The policy of the Department of Social Services in Michigan is to purge the records of any individuals who have been out of the system for 3 or more years (although we found in the paper search that that in practice did not always occur). Therefore, in theory, all of the above searches include information only on individuals who have had some record of activity in the social services system between 1988 and 1991.

   1. Michigan Department of Social Services computer search in March, 1991. This search provided a 5-year history of social services usage. The search was limited to the 114 participants for whom we had signed consent forms. The search yielded social services data on only 30 Perry subjects, whereas Washtenaw County record searches indicate that 76 Perry subjects had some record of using the social services system within the past several years.

2. Washtenaw County Social Services Dept. computer search (March,1991). This search included dollar amounts received in total for March, 1991, by each subject through the Washtenaw County office. It provides information on specific amounts for ADC, Food Stamps, and General Assistance; and whether or not medicaid was being received.

3. Washtenaw County Social Services Dept. computer search (January, 1991).   This search included social service status as of January, 1991, county of record, and whether the subject was currently receiving ADC, Food Stamps, General Assistance, or Protective Services.

4. Washtenaw County records paper search by High/Scope staff (March, 1991).   The data collected through the paper search is anecdotal in that the same variables were not covered for all the individuals in all of the records. However, it does include useful and interesting information that is not found elsewhere; for instance, evidence of a mental, emotional, or physical impairment (7 subjects) as well as alcohol or drug dependency (4 subjects) (variables S79 - S83). It also provides employment and household information, such as birthdates of children and grandchildren, and number of absent fathers named. It also includes amounts being received for certain types of social services in March, 1991, or the most recent month, All information found in the records on monthly amounts received for each type of service during the years 1990 to 1981 were averaged to create an estimated average monthly amount for that subject by year. However, it was impossible, from the records found, to determine the number of months per year those amounts were received by the subject; therefore, it is inappropriate to assume that any subject received twelve times the monthly amount in that calendar year.

Education Records (PSCHOOL.S)

This file includes education records collected through age 11, at 15, and during the follow-up studies at ages 19 and 27. It includes school record information from kindergarten through postsecondary education. The school record file, P19edrec.s, created at the time of the age-19 study, was supplemented by 8 additional high-school records that were collected in the age-27 search. In addition, a search was conducted on the 113 interviewed subjects who had signed consent forms in order to obtain records from adult education departments, GED state and intermediate school district certification files, and any junior and four-year college institutions named by subjects in their interviews. Please note that only records collected in the age-27 follow-up are entered in the E1-E40 data.

P467. Value on schooling
    Sum of 7 4-point items:

         1 Not at all
         2 A little
         3 Pretty much
         4 Very much
    Even if I could get a very good job at present I'd still choose to stay in school and get my education.
    I can satisfy my curiosity better by the things I learn here at school than by the things I learn outside of school.
    All people should have at least a high school education.
    I feel I can learn more here at school than I can from a very good job.
    I think school is important, not only for the practical value,
    but because learning itself is very worthwhile.
    I feel the things I do ouside of school waste my time more than the things I do at school.

SELF-REPORTED DELINQUENCY AT AGE 15

Now I'd like to turn to a different topic. Young people sometimes do things that are against the law of things that would get them into trouble if they were caught.
On each card in this stack is a sentence about something like that--such as, "took something that didn't belong to you." I'd like to know which of the things on these cards you have done in the last three years whether you were caught or not. If you think that you can't tell me about this kind of thing honestly, then it is better that you don't try to answer at all.

Let me remind you at this point that everything you say is completely confidential;
no one will ever see your name together with your answers.
